THIRTY-NINTH CONGRESS,

(SECOND SESSION.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7, 1866.

SENATE.

PETITIONS PRESENTED.

The following petitions were presented: For increased pay of officers of the regular army; against increased duty on steel; in favor of the tariff passed at the last session; against the curtailing of the national currency.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

The following bills were introduced: To protect the rights of married women; to amend the act providing a temporary government for Idaho.

PAYMENTS FOR ENLISTED SLAVES.

The bill suspending the payment of moneys for enlisted slaves in Kentucky, Maryland, and other States, until the Commissioners' report is approved by Congress, was read three times and passed. It goes to the House.

MEDALS TO SOLDIERS.

A joint resolution to distribute medals to honorably discharged soldiers was passed.

THE VETO OF THE DISTRICT SUFFRAGE BILL.

At 12 M. the following message from the President vetoing the bill in relation to suffrage in the District of Columbia, was laid before the Senate:

To the Senate of the United States:

I have received and considered a bill entitled "An act to regulate the elective franchise in the District of Columbia," passed by the Senate on the 13th of December, and by the House of Representatives on the succeeding day. It was presented for my approval on the 26th ultimo—six days after the adjournment of Congress—and is now returned with my objections to the Senate, in which House it originated.

Measures having been introduced, at the commencement of the first session of the present Congress, for the extension of the elective franchise to persons of color in the District of Columbia, steps were taken by the corporate authorities of Washington and Georgetown to ascertain and make known the opinion of the people of the two cities upon a subject so immediately affecting their welfare as a community. The question was submitted to the people at special elections, held in the month of December, 1865, when the qualified voters of Washington and Georgetown, with great unanimity of sentiment, expressed themselves opposed to the contemplated legislation. In Washington, in a vote of 6,556—the largest, with but two exceptions, ever polled in that city—only thirty-five ballots were cast for negro suffrage; while in Georgetown, in an aggregate of 813 votes—a number considerably in excess of the average vote at the four preceding annual elections—but one was given in favor of the proposed extension of the elective franchise. As these elections seem to have been conducted with entire fairness, the result must be accepted as a truthful expression of the opinion of the people of the District upon the question which evoked it. Possessing, as an organized community, the same popular right as the inhabitants of a State or Territory, to make known their will upon matters which affect their social and political condition, they could have selected no more appropriate mode of memorializing Congress upon the subject of this bill than through the suffrages of their qualified voters.

Entirely disregarding the wishes of the people of the District of Columbia, Congress has deemed it right and expedient to pass the measure now submitted for my signature. It, therefore, becomes the duty of the Executive, standing between the legislation of the one and the will of the other, fairly expressed, to determine whether he should approve the bill, and thus aid in placing upon the statute books of the nation a law against which the people to whom it is to apply have solemnly, and with such unanimity protested, or whether he should return it with his objections, in the hope that, upon reconsideration, Congress, acting as the representatives of the inhabitants of the seat of government, will permit them to regulate a purely local question, as to them may seem best suited to their interests and condition.

It should be remembered that in legislating for the District of Columbia, under the Federal Constitution, the relation of Congress to its inhabitants is analogous to that of a Legislature to the people of a State, under their own local Constitution. It does not, therefore, seem to be asking too much that, in matters pertaining to the District, Congress should have a like respect for the will and interests of its inhabitants as is entertained by a State Legislature for the wishes and prosperity of those for whom they legislate. The spirit of our Constitution and the genius of our Government require that, in regard to any law which is to affect and have a permanent bearing upon a people, their will should exert at least a reasonable influence upon those who are acting in the capacity of their legislators. Would, for instance, the Legislature of the State of New York, or of Pennsylvania, or of Indiana, or of any State in the Union, in opposition to the expressed will of a large majority of the people whom they were chosen to represent, arbitrarily force upon them, as voters, all persons of the African or negro race, and make them eligible for office without any other qualification than a certain term of residence within the State? In neither of the States named would the colored population, when acting together, be able to produce any great social or political result. Yet, in New York, before he can vote, the man of color must fulfil conditions that are not required of the white citizen; in Pennsylvania the elective franchise is restricted to white freemen; while in Indiana negroes and mulattoes are expressly excluded from the right of suffrage. It hardly seems consistent with the principles of right and justice that representatives of States where suffrage is either denied the colored man, or granted to him on qualifications requiring intelligence or property, should compel the people of the District of Columbia to try an experiment which their own constituents have thus far shown an unwillingness to test for themselves. Nor does it accord with our republican ideas that the principle of self-government should lose its force when applied to the residents of the District, merely because their legislators are not, like those of the States, responsible, through the ballot, to the people for whom they are the law-making power.

The great object of placing the seat of government under the exclusive legislation of Congress, was to secure the entire independence of the General Government from undue State influence, and to enable it to discharge, without danger of interruption or infringement of its authority, the high functions for which it was created by the people. For this important purpose it was ceded to the United States by Maryland and Virginia, and it certainly never could have been contemplated, as one of the objects to be attained by placing it under the exclusive jurisdiction of Congress, that it would afford to propagandists or political parties a place for an experimental test of their principles and theories. While, indeed, the residents of the seat of government are not citizens of any State, and are not therefore allowed a voice in the electoral college, or representation in the councils of the nation, they are, nevertheless, American citizens, entitled as such to every guarantee of the Constitution of our common country. In all matters, then, affecting their domestic affairs, the spirit of our democratic form of government demands that their wishes should be consulted and respected, and they taught to feel that, although not permitted practically to participate in national concerns, they are nevertheless under a paternal Government, regardful of their rights, mindful of their wants, and solicitous for their prosperity. It was evidently contemplated that all local questions would be left to their decision, at least to an extent that would not be incompatible with the object for which Congress was granted exclusive legislation over the seat of government. When the Constitution was yet under consideration, it was assumed, by Mr. Madison, that its inhabitants would be allowed "a municipal legislature for local purposes, derived from their own suffrages." When, for the first time, Congress, in the year 1800, assembled at Washington, President Adams, in his speech at its opening, reminded the two Houses that it was for them to consider whether the local powers over the District of Columbia, vested by the Constitution in the Congress of the United States, should be immediately exercised, and he asked them to "consider it as the capital of a great nation, advancing with unexampled rapidity in arts, in commerce, in wealth, and in population, and possessing within itself those resources which, if not thrown away or lamentably misdirected, would secure to it a long course of prosperity and self-government." Three years had not elapsed when Congress was called upon to determine the propriety of retroceding to Maryland and Virginia the jurisdiction of the territory which they had respectively relinquished to the Government of the United States. It was urged, on the one hand, that exclusive jurisdiction was not necessary or useful to the Government; that it deprived the inhabitants of the District of their political rights; that much of the time of Congress was consumed in legislation pertaining to it; that its government was expensive; that Congress was not competent to legislate for the District, because the members were strangers to its local concerns; and that it was an example of a government without representation, an experiment dangerous to the liberties of the States. On the other hand, it was held, among other reasons, and successfully, that the Constitution, the acts of cession of Virginia and Maryland, and the act of Congress accepting the grant, all contemplated the exercise of exclusive legislation by Congress, and that its usefulness, if not its necessity, was inferred from the inconvenience which was felt for want of it by the Congress of the Confederation; that the people themselves, who it was said had been deprived of their political rights, had not complained and did not desire a retrocession; that the evil might be remedied by giving them a representation in Congress when the District should become sufficiently populous, and in the meantime a local legislature; that if the inhabitants had not political rights, they had great political influence; that the trouble and expense of legislating for the District would not be great, but would diminish, and might in a great measure be avoided by a local legislature and that Congress could not retrocede the inhabitants without their consent. Continuing to live substantially under the laws that existed at the time of the cession, and such changes only having been made as were suggested by themselves, the people of the District have not sought, by a local legislature, that which has generally been willingly conceded by the Congress of the nation.

As a general rule, sound policy requires that the Legislature should yield to the wishes of a people, when not inconsistent with the Constitution and the laws. The measures suited to one community might not be well adapted to the condition of another; and the persons best qualified to determine such questions are those whose interests are to be directly affected by any proposed law. In Massachusetts, for instance, male persons are allowed to vote without regard to color, provided they possess a certain degree of intelligence. In a population in that State of 1,231,066, there were, by the census of 1860, only 9,602 persons of color; and of the males over twenty years of age, there were 339,086 white to 2,602 colored. By the same official enumeration, there were in the District of Columbia 60,764 whites to 14,316 persons of the colored race. Since then, however, the population of the District has largely increased, and it is estimated that at the present time there are nearly a hundred thousand whites to thirty thousand negroes. The cause of the augmented numbers of the latter class needs no explanation. Contiguous to Maryland and Virginia, the District, during the war, became a place of refuge for those who escaped from servitude, and it is yet the abiding place of a considerable proportion of those who sought within its limits a shelter from bondage. Until then held in slavery, and denied all opportunities for mental culture, their first knowledge of the Government was acquired when, by conferring upon them freedom, it became the benefactor of their race; the test of their capability for improvement began, when, for the first time, the career of free industry and the avenues to intelligence were opened to them. Possessing these advantages but a limited time—the greater number perhaps having entered the District of Columbia during the later years of the war or since its termination—we may well pause to inquire whether, after so brief a probation, they are as a class capable of an intelligent exercise of the right of suffrage, and qualified to discharge the duties of official position. The people who are daily witnesses of their mode of living, and who have become familiar with their habits of thought, have expressed the conviction that they are not yet competent to serve as electors, and thus become eligible for office in the local governments under which they live. Clothed with the elective franchise, their numbers, already largely in excess of the demand for labor, would be soon increased by an influx from the adjoining States. Drawn from fields where employment is abundant, they would in vain seek it here, and so add to the embarrassments already experienced from the large class of idle persons congregated in the District. Hardly yet capable of forming correct judgments upon the important questions that often make the issues of a political contest, they could readily be made subservient to the purposes of designing persons. While in Massachusetts, under the census of 1860, the proportion of white to colored males over twenty years of age was one hundred and thirty to one, here the black race constitutes nearly one-third of the entire population, whilst the same class surrounds the District on all sides, ready to change their residence at a moment's notice, and with all the facility of a nomadic people, in order to enjoy here, after a short residence, a privilege they find nowhere else. It is within their power, in one year, to come into the Districts in such numbers as to have the supreme control of the white race, and to govern them by their own officers, and by the exercise of all the municipal authority—among the rest, of the power of taxation over property in which they have no interest. In Massachusetts, where they have enjoyed the benefits of a thorough educational system, a qualification of intelligence is required, while here suffrage is extended to all, without discrimination, as well to the most incapable, who can prove a residence in the District of one year, as to those persons of color, who, comparatively few in number, are permanent inhabitants, and having given evidence of merit and qualification, are recognized as useful and responsible members of the community. Imposed upon an unwilling people, placed, by the Constitution, under the exclusive legislation of Congress, it would be viewed as an arbitrary exercise of power, and as an indication by the country of the purpose of Congress to compel the acceptance of negro suffrage by the States. It would engender a feeling of opposition and hatred between the two races, which, becoming deep-rooted and ineradicable, would prevent them from living together in a state of mutual friendliness. Carefully avoiding every measure that might tend to produce such a result, and following the clear and well ascertained popular will, we should assiduously endeavor to promote kindly relations between them, and thus, when that popular will leads the way, prepare for the gradual and harmonious introduction of this new element into the political power of the country.

It cannot be urged that the proposed extension of suffrage in the District of Columbia is necessary to enable persons of color to protect either their interests or their rights. They stand here precisely as they stand in Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana. Here, as elsewhere, in all that pertains to civil rights, there is nothing to distinguish this class of persons from citizens of the United States; for they possess the "full and equal benefit of all laws and proceedings for the security of person and property as is enjoyed by white citizens," and are made "subject to like punishment, pains and penalties, and to none other, any law, statute, ordinance, regulation or custom to the contrary notwithstanding." Nor, as has been assumed, are their suffrages necessary to aid a loyal sentiment here; for local governments already exist of undoubted fealty to the Government, and are sustained by communities which were among the first to testify their devotion to the Union, and which, during the struggle, furnished their full quotas of men to the military service of the country.

In returning this bill to the Senate, I deeply regret that there should be any conflict of opinion between the Legislative and Executive Departments of the Government in regard to measures that vitally affect the prosperity and peace of the country. Sincerely desiring to reconcile the States with one another, and the whole people of the Government of the United States, it has been my earnest wish to co-operate with Congress in all measures having for their object a proper and complete adjustment of the questions resulting from our late civil war. Harmony between the co-ordinate branches of the Government, always necessary for the public welfare, was never more demanded than at the present time, and it will, therefore, be my constant aim to promote, as far as possible, concert of action between them. The differences of opinion that have already occurred have made me only the more cautious, lest the Executive should encroach upon any of the prerogatives of Congress, or, by exceeding, in any manner, the constitutional limit of his duties, destroy the equilibrium which should exist between the several co-ordinate Departments, and which is so essential to the harmonious working of the Government. I know it has been urged that the Executive Department is more likely to enlarge the sphere of its action than either of the other two branches of the Government, especially in the exercise of the veto power conferred upon it by the Constitution. It should be remembered, however, that this power is wholly negative and conservative in its character, and was intended to operate as a check upon unconstitutional, hasty, and improvident legislation, and as a means of protection against invasions of the just powers of the Executive and Judicial Departments. It is remarked by Chancellor Kent that "to enact laws is a transcendent power; and, if the body that possesses it be a full and equal representation of the people, there is danger of its pressing with destructive weight upon all the other parts of the machinery of government. It has, therefore, been thought necessary, by the most skilful and most experienced artists in the science of civil policy, that strong barriers should be erected for the protection and security of the other necessary powers of the Government. Nothing has been deemed more fit and expedient for the purpose than the provision that the head of the Executive Department should be so constituted as to secure a requisite share of independence, and that he should have a negative upon the passing of laws; and that the Judiciary power, resting on a still more permanent basis, should have the right of determining upon the validity of laws by the standard of the Constitution."

After full deliberation upon this measure, I cannot bring myself to approve it, even upon local considerations, nor yet as the beginning of an experiment upon a larger scale. I yield to no one in attachment to that rule of general suffrage which distinguishes our policy as a nation. But there is a limit, wisely observed hitherto, which makes the ballot a privilege and a trust, and which requires of some classes a time suitable for probation and preparation. To give it indiscriminately to a new class, wholly unprepared, by previous habits and opportunities, to perform the trust which it demands, is to degrade it, and finally to destroy its power; for it may be safely assumed that no political truth is better established than that such indiscriminate and all-embracing extension of popular suffrage must end at last in its destruction.

ANDREW JOHNSON.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5, 1867.

RE-CONSIDERATION OF THE BILL.

After the reading of the message, the question being, shall the bill pass, the objections of the President to the contrary notwithstanding, a motion was made to postpone the consideration of the bill for the present. The motion was negatived.

HOUSE.

BILLS INTRODUCED.

The following bills were introduced: To establish a territorial government for the Indian Territory; to repeal the act retroceding the city of Alexandria to Virginia; to amend the homestead law of 1862; to grant lands to Kansas to aid in erecting a deaf and dumb asylum; to amend an act organizing the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico.

SALE OF GOLD IN THE TREASURY.

The bill authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to sell all gold in the Treasury in excess of fifty millions of dollars, at his discretion, with thirty days public notice, was referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

IMPEACHMENT QUESTION.

Mr. LOAN, of Missouri, introduced the following resolution, to impeach the President:

Resolved, That for the purpose of securing the fruits of the victories gained on the part of the republic during the late war, waged by rebels and traitors against the life of the nation, and of giving effect to the will of the people as expressed at the polls during the recent elections, by majorities numbering in the aggregate to more than 400,000 votes, it is the imperative duty of the Thirty-ninth Congress to take, without delay, such action as will accomplish the following objects:

First—The impeachment of the officer now exercising the functions pertaining to the office of President of the United States of America, and his removal from office upon conviction in due form of law, of the high crimes and misdemeanors of which he is manifestly feloniously guilty, and which render unsafe for us to permit him to discharge the powers he has unlawfully assumed.

Second—To provide for the faithful and efficient administration of the Executive Department of the Government within the limits prescribed by law.

Third—To secure by the direct intervention of Federal authority, the right of franchise alike, without regard to color, to all classes of loyal citizens residing within those sections of the Republic which were lately in rebellion.

The following section was ruled out of order: "To provide efficient means for the immediate reorganization of civil Governments in those States lately in rebellion, excepting Tennessee, and for restoring them to practical relations with the Government upon the basis of loyalty and justice.

The point of order was made that the resolution should go to the Committee on Reconstruction. This was sustained, and on motion it was so referred.

Mr. KELSO, of Missouri, subsequently introduced the same resolution, modified by striking out the third and fourth clauses.

Mr. DAVIS, of New York, moved to lay it upon the table, which motion was not agreed to; yeas 46, nays 103.

Pending the further consideration, the morning hour expired, and the resolution went over.

THE ISLAND OF SAN JUAN.

A message was received from the President, transmitting a copy of the correspondence between the Secretary of State and the British authorities relative to the occupation of the Island of San Juan. It was read and referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

THE ARREST OF SURRATT.

A message was also received from the President, transmitting additional information in relation to the arrest of Surratt, which was referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

SALE OF NEGRO CRIMINALS.

Mr. KASSON, of Iowa, introduced a bill declaring the sales of negroes into servitude, for petty crimes, a violation of the Constitutional Amendment abolishing slavery.

CONTRACTION OF CURRENCY.

Mr. RANDALL, of Pa., introduced a bill authorizing the issue of Treasury notes not bearing interest, to be used in providing a sinking fund for extinguishing the national debt, the amount not to exceed three hundred millions of dollars, and to be used in exchange for national bank notes, or, in the purchase of national indebtedness, said national bank notes so exchanged to be cancelled. Referred.

MR. ASHLEY'S IMPEACHMENT CHARGES.

Mr. ASHLEY, of Ohio, rose to a question of privilege, and had read by the clerk, the following charges:

"I do impeach Andrew Johnson, Vice President and acting President of the United States, of high criminal misdemeanors.

"I charge him with the usurpation of power and violation of law, in that he has corruptly abused the appointing and pardoning power; in that he has corruptly disposed of the public property of the United States; in that he has corruptly interfered in the elections, and committed acts and conspired with other to commit acts which are high crimes and misdemeanors; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the Committee on Judiciary be and they are hereby authorized to inquire into the official conduct of Andrew Johnson, Vice President, discharging the powers and duties of President of the United States, and to report to this House whether, in their opinion, the said Andrew Johnson, while in said office, has been guilty of acts which were designed or calculated to overthrow, subvert or corrupt the Government of the United States, or any Department or officer thereof; and whether the said Andrew Johnson has been guilty of any act, or has conspired with others to do acts which, in contemplation of the Committee, are high crimes and misdemeanors requiring the interposition of the Constitutional power of this House, and that said Committee have power to send for persons and papers, and to administer the customary oaths to witnesses.

Mr. SPAULDING, of Ohio, moved to lay the resolution on the table. The motion was negatived—37 ayes and 105 nays.

Mr. ASHLEY demanded the previous question on the passage of the resolution, and it was so ordered.

The resolution was then agreed to—yeas 108 and nays 45.

OTHER BUSINESS.

Several bills of minor importance were disposed of and the House adjourned.

FROM NEW YORK.

Railroad Consolidation—Opposition of Corn Exchange to a Reduction of Currency—Another Fenian Address.

NEW YORK, January 6, 1867.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

The Southwest Pacific Railroad Company was merged into the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad to-day. Henry H. Ward, L. W. Jerome, Robert L. Cummings, Paul J. Forbes and Charles Gould, were elected to the Board of Directors of the latter Company.

OPPOSED TO A REDUCTION OF CURRENCY.

Resolutions were adopted at the Corn Exchange to-day against a further reduction of the currency.

STILL ANOTHER FENIAN ADDRESS.

President Roberts issued another address, calling on all Irishmen to unite with his organization to free Ireland.

A FIRE.

The organ establishment of Carpart & Needham, Twenty-third street, was damaged by fire to-day. Fully insured.

PRESIDENT OF HAYTI POISONED.

A letter from Turk Island says: The report has just reached there that President Geffrard, of Hayti, had been poisoned.

POLITICAL.

Democratic State Convention in Ohio—The Probable Platform—A National Convention to be Recommended.

CINCINNATI, January 7th.—The Democratic Convention, for the nomination of State officers, convenes at Columbus to-morrow. All sections of the State will be largely represented. Nearly all the leaders of the party have already arrived, including Ranney, Jewett, Pendleton, Vallandigham, Van Trump and others. The resolutions will strongly adhere to the principles heretofore advocated by the party, and will denounce negro suffrage, oppose a high protective tariff, declare the States lately in rebellion still States in the Union, favor State rights, and advocate a Convention of delegates from all the States, to meet at Louisville, Ky.

Judge Allen G. Thurman will probably be nominated for Governor by acclamation.

A grand banquet will be given the delegates in the evening.

FROM THE PLAINS.

Further Indian Massacres—Telegraph Office Attacked and Operator Killed and Scalped—The Massacre at Fort Kearney.

ST. LOUIS, MO., January 7.—A party of one hundred and fifty Cheyenne Indians, surrounded the telegraph office at Sweetwater bridge on the morning of the 1st inst., and killed and scalped Mr. Callicott, the operator, and burned the station. Three soldiers were with him, one of whom was found dead. The rest have not been heard from.

The Cheyennes have been peaceable heretofore, and their taking the war path with the Sioux will make it much worse for the small number of troops in this Territory.

An expedition commanded by Majors Van Voast and Gordon started from here a few days ago, to punish the Sioux who committed the massacre near Fort Phil Kearney.

General Palmer, commanding here, is wide awake to the importance of the situation.

River Telegrams.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 7.—The reported gorge at the narrows, thirty miles below Leavenworth, has probably broken, as indicated by the sudden fall of the river this morning.

OIL CITY, January 7.—The river is still closed. Weather moderate. There was a slight thaw to-day.

REPORT AS TO THE ASSASSINATION CONSPIRATORS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7, 1867.

IMPORTANT ARMY CHANGE.

The consolidation of the Quartermaster's, the Subsistence and Pay Departments of the army, is engaging the attention of the general officers now in Congress. Gen. Grant is understood to favor it.

THE ARREST OF SURRATT.

The official documents, including letters from our Consuls, respecting the arrest of Surratt, were transmitted to the House to-day. They present few additional features of interest. In a letter to Mr. Seward, dated Dec. 17th, Mr. King states: "St. Marie, who first informed me of Surratt being in the Corps of Zouaves, has been discharged from the Papal service at my request. I have paid him the sum specified by the State Department. Threats have been made against St. Marie by some of his old comrades, and thinking his life not altogether safe, and that he might be wanted in Alexandria as a witness to identify Surratt, I put him in charge of Captain Jeffries, and he sailed on the Swatara on Friday last. His great desire seems to be to return to America, and in bringing Surratt to justice. I have seen as yet no reason to doubt his good faith or question the truth of his statements."

COTTON TAX.

It is reported that the Committee of Ways and Means will not recommend any change in the tax on cotton.

NEW YORK BANK CASE.

Justice Nelson, in Supreme Court, to-day, delivered an opinion in the New York bank cases, affirming the decision of the lower Court. Chief Justice Chase, and Justices Wayne and Swayne dissented.

GEN. GRANT AND THE VETO.

Gen. Grant's friends deny that he approved of the President's veto message as claimed.

MUDD, SPANGLER AND OTHER CONSPIRATORS.

A report here says that Mudd, Spangler, Arnold and O'Laughlin, the assassination conspirators, will, in consequence of the Supreme Court decision concerning Military Commissions, be brought to Washington from Dry Tortugas and handed over to the civil tribunal.

THE EVERLASTING TEST OATH DECISION.

The decision in the test oath case cannot be made until the 14th. The majority opinion is to be delivered by Judge Grier, who is sustained by Clifford, Nelson, Field and Wayne. The dissenting opinion to be delivered by Judge Miller, to be sustained by Chase, Swayne and Davis.

ISLAND OF SAN JUAN.

Mr. Seward in a letter transmitted to the House says: The correspondence relative to the joint occupation of San Juan Island, cannot be communicated at present with regard for public interests.

Another View.

"G. A." sends us the following communication, in which we think, he unjustly deals with our correspondent "H," and gives a few uncharitable blows while he aims to accomplish some good in a noble cause. Here is his communication:

Messrs. Editors: Your correspondent of Lawrenceville, in an article in relation to one of the speakers of the First Presbyterian Church, has labored hard with honied expressions and faint praise, to mask his rose-pointed dagger that he might drive it home with more efficiency. It savors much of malevolence or an ignorance of christian duty. For it ill becomes a humble disciple of the Saviour, to be found catering to the infirmities, or the corrupt passions of jealousy and envy, of poor human nature. If my surmises are unfounded, I retract. G. A.

—The foreign papers to December 19th, bring additional accounts of the colliery disaster in Yorkshire and North Staffordshire collieries. But few incidents in addition to those already published are given. The total number of lives lost by the Barnsley explosion is reported at 358, and by the Staffordshire calamity 85. On Sunday, the 16th, thirty funerals of the killed took place at Barnesley, the Bishop of Ripon and clergymen officiating. On the same day twenty-two corpses were interred at Talk-o-the-Hill, in Staffordshire. Some of the escapes from death read almost miraculous. Several additional explosions had occurred. The mines, however, were being rapidly flooded to put out the subterranean fires.

GAZETTE ENLARGEMENT.

The great amount of advertising awarded the GAZETTE by the business community has forced upon us the urgent necessity of an enlargement of the size of our journal. We at first contemplated issuing a quarto paper, but upon consultation with the proprietors of such journals elsewhere we were dissuaded from adopting that form, feeling that the interests of our advertisers would suffer, while readers would be but slightly benefited. After much study into the matter we have concluded to retain the present form of the GAZETTE, but will add four columns to its size, making THIRTY-SIX COLUMNS OF ..... By this arrangement we will be enabled to do full justice to both readers and advertisers, making all pages of our journal equally valuable to the latter, and furnishing more reading matter to the former. In our new size we shall make our bow to the public about the 15th inst., and trust the general community will appreciate our efforts to supply a first-class advertising medium and local and political newspaper.

Regular Meeting of Manchester Councils.

A regular meeting of Manchester Councils was held last week at their chamber.

Members present: Messrs. Harper, Kirk, Means, Motheral and Patterson, Burgess McCune occupying the chair. Mr. Phelps was absent.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. Harper, from the Gas Committee on gas post at Mr. Gallagher's residence, on Ohio avenue, reported that that gentleman had agreed to place the post, provided the authorities would light the same.

Mr. Harper, from the Ordinance Committee, reported that the Committee was progressing rapidly in the completing of the ordinances, and the work would be done by Friday, the 4th inst.

Mr. Kirk moved a reconsideration of the action of Council concerning the grading of Evans' alley. Adopted.

Mr. Kirk, from the Ordinance Committee, reported concerning the bill to present to Legislature for a sewerage law, and the remonstrance against the sewer along Washington street, that a bill to present to the Assembly had been prepared and was ready, but from a careful examination of the laws, he found that the granting of such powers to corporations had been left to the District Court of Allegheny county.

The Clerk read the following bills, which were accepted, and the Burgess authorized to draw his warrants for the respective amounts:

| | |
|---|---|
| Addy, Williams & Bartley, 4 gas posts | $108 00 |
| Isaac Stewart, street roll for December and November, 1866 | 184 00 |
| Pittsburgh Dispatch, printing proposals | 12 35 |
| John C. Harper, Clerk of Councils, and stationary for 1866 | 85 65 |
| I. Stewart, Borough Constable for 1866 | 50 00 |
| Street Committee | 100 00 |
| Matilda Horner, Janitrix, 1866 | 25 00 |

Mr. N. Nelson, Borough Solicitor, being present, stated to Council that he would donate his salary to the borough, as he had not done any business during his term of office.

Mr. Harper moved that a Committee be appointed to revise a remonstrance that was present in Council, and have the same signed by the citizens against the project of Allegheny City in passing an act of assembly to place a sewer on Washington street in the borough of Manchester, and have the same presented to the Legislature for their approval. Adopted. Messrs. Harper, Patterson and Kirk, were appointed on said Committee.

Mr. Kirk moved that the Burgess appoint a Committee of one from the Council to accompany Mr. Wm. B. Ross to Harrisburg, Penna., to present the remonstrance of the citizens against the passage of the act of Assembly for Allegheny City. Adopted. The Burgess appointed Mr. Wm. N. Kirk as said committee to carry out said resolution.

Mr. Patterson, from the Finance Committee, in behalf of Mr. Adams, asked exoneration to the amount of $23,75, bounty tax, paid by his wife while he was in the army, and by Mr. Harper, in behalf of Mr. Andrew Warner, exoneration to the amount of $10 bounty tax.

Also the following was read:

CONTROLLER'S OFFICE, May 1st, 1865.

This is to certify that Isaac Stewart has filed this day a list of property, which he returns for non payment of taxes for the year 1864, to be entered on the Prothonotary Docket, for the borough of Manchester, to wit:

| | |
|---|---|
| Borough | $ 4 90 |
| Voluntary Relief | 4 90 |
| Bounty | 1,211 10 |
| Total | $1,220 90 |

HENRY SNIVELY, Clerk.

Also, the list of taxes and exonerations of Mr. Isaac Stewart, Tax Collector, for the years 1864 and 1865, were received.

Mr. Harper moved that the foregoing be received, and the examinations be accepted and placed on the minutes. Adopted.

The following are the totals:

| | |
|---|---|
| Bounty | $5,297 99 |
| Borough | 162 57 |
| Relief | 184 74 |

Mr. Harper moved that the Councils adjourn to meet Tuesday, January 15th, 1867. Adopted.

More Lawlessness—Attempted Outrage in Allegheny.

Timely interference alone prevented the consummation of another gross and dastardly outrage on Saturday evening. On that evening a young lady employed as a seamstress in this city, but residing on Pasture lane, Second ward, Allegheny, started for her home a little before six o'clock. When passing the Drove Yards and within a short distance of her home, a man, dressed in a military overcoat, sprang out of a dark nook and caught her about the waist, clasping her throat with one hand to prevent any outcry. The young lady's hands were partially pinioned by being under her cloak, and before she could free them sufficiently to struggle effectually, her assailant had stuffed a portion of the cape of his overcoat into her mouth. He then lifted her from the ground and attempted to bear her away. She had succeeded in freeing her hands, however, by this time and was struggling violently. She succeeded in removing the cape from her mouth and uttered a series of piercing screams. A gentleman passing on horseback was attracted by the outcry and rode toward the spot. The cowardly ruffian who held the terrified girl heard the horse approaching, and, dropping his victim, ran swiftly away. A few hurried words explained the state of affairs to the gentleman whose timely interference had rescued the lady from a fate too terrible to contemplate, and he rode rapidly after the fugitive. The latter, however, managed to elude his pursuer by dodging into some dark corner, and so effected his escape. The young lady meanwhile, pursued her way to her home. She was so utterly exhausted with terror and fatigue from the desperate struggle in which she had been engaged, that she sank, fainting, in the yard, where she was found soon after by her brother. She describes her assailant as a rather young looking man, with smooth face, and wearing a military overcoat, and soft felt hat. It is a thousand pities that the miscreant escaped without even a horse whipping. We trust that every slightest clue to his identity may be followed up until he is found and caught, and then that he may have visited upon him the very utmost rigors of the law.

Charged with Passing Counterfeit Money.

On Saturday John Griffin made information before Alderman Lynch, charging Mrs. Kuntzman with passing a counterfeit ten dollar bill, national currency. The accused is the wife of a butcher, and resides on Pennsylvania avenue, in the Eighth ward, on the property belonging to the deponent. A few days since the landlord came to the house to collect fifty dollars rent due. The money had been left by Mr. Kuntzman in the care of his wife, and the latter handed it in a roll to the prosecutor. It is alleged that the counterfeit note was one of the bills in the roll. This accusation is denied by Mrs. Kuntzman, who states that she never saw the counterfeit bill until Mr. Griffin brought it to her the next day after the payment. The case was transferred by the Alderman to United States Commissioner Sproull, who yesterday afternoon dismissed it.

Stealing Sweets.

Last evening, Benjamin Timmons was arrested by officers Moon and Wrigley, for the larceny of a barrel of molasses. During the afternoon the prisoner hired a wagon from a colored man in the city, and with it hauled a barrel of molasses from front of the store of Messrs. Fetzer & Armstrong, on Liberty street. He had disposed of this barrel and had returned for a second one, which he was in the act of loading into his wagon, when he was captured. He was conveyed to the lock-up, and will probably have a hearing to-day. The barrel which he had carried away, was left at the store of Jerry Brush, on the corner of Diamond alley and the Diamond. Brush and his wife were also arrested last evening, by officers Capples and Dressler, and locked up for a hearing as receivers of stolen goods.

Accident—Yesterday afternoon as a young German man employed as driver by Dr. Jacoby, of Lawrenceville, was unhitching the Doctor's horse, the animal became frightened and started to run away. The man kept his hold on the rein, and was thrown to the ground by the frightened horse. By the fall, the unfortunate man sustained a severe fracture of the left arm. He was carried into the house of Dr. Jacoby, and his injuries properly attended to by that gentleman.

Caucus Nominations.

Last evening, City Councils—Select and Common—met in joint session, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the various offices at their disposal, for the ensuing year. At a few minutes past seven o'clock the meeting organized by electing Mr. Coffin Chairman, and Messrs. Coursin, Hemphill and Crawford Secretaries. After some preliminary discussion among the members, of an unofficial character, the following nominations, which are equivalent to election, were made:

City Printers—GAZETTE, Dispatch and Freiheit's Freund.

City Job Printers—Errett & Anderson.

Recording Regulator—A. J. Moore.

Assessor—J. R. Newman.

City Guager—J. H. Nobbs.

Superintendent of Markets—Capt. S. Kilgore.

Clerk of Markets—Elilab Asper.

Monongahela Wharf Master—Wm. Kennedy.

Allegheny Wharf Master—R. A. Hill.

Salt Inspector—C. A. Barr.

Inspector of Ashes—John McKing.

Inspector of Tobacco—Frank Weyman.

Street Commissioner—1st district, John Hunter.

Street Commissioner—2d district, John Flinn.

Superintendent of Water Works—Jos. French.

Assessor of Water Rents—E. S. Wright.

Board Measurers—First ward, Rob't Walker; Second ward, Joseph Wilson; Third ward, Joseph M'Master; Fourth ward, John M'Clure, Fifth ward, David Beck; Sixth ward, John L. Brown; Seventh ward, Richard Donaldson; Eighth ward, J. J. Wells; Ninth ward, Samuel Mitchell; Tenth ward, David Sims.

Bark Measurer—John Pollock.

Messenger—Capt. Cooper.

We return our thanks to the members who sustained us in the caucus, and trust that we shall perform our duties in the most satisfactory manner, if elected to the position nominated.

Death of an Esteemed Citizen.

It is with no ordinary degree of sorrow we announce the death of our esteemed fellow citizen, Henry Richardson, Esq., Jeweller, which took place the latter part of last month, at Nice, Italy. He had been for some time past in delicate health, suffering from pulmonary consumption, and as a last resort his medical attendant advised him to make a tour through Europe for the benefit of his health. But instead of a foreign atmosphere and traveling doing him any good, he gradually sank under his disease, and died as stated. The American Consul at Nice, and Charles Spang, Esq., of this city, attended the deceased faithfully during his last days, and, after death, took charge of the body and notified the relatives here of his demise. Mr. Richardson had for a number of years been the senior partner of the well known jewelry house of H. Richardson & Co., corner of Fifth and Market streets, and his death will cause sorrow among a large circle of friends and acquaintances. He was kind-hearted, agreeable, courteous and charitable, and a loyal, patriotic citizen. The mortal remains of the deceased will be brought home for interment in the Allegheny Cemetery.

The Irrepressible Freddy.

Freddy Diehl, the irrepressible, was again arrested last evening by the Allegheny police, and placed in the lock-up. In the cell to which he was assigned, a lodger had previously been placed. Very shortly after an unearthly din was heard proceeding from the cell, and the officers, on going to the place, found Freddy unmercifully pummelling the prostrate form of his room-mate. Interference was promptly made, but not promptly enough to prevent the unfortunate victim receiving a badly bruised frontispiece and an ugly gash under the eye. The belligerent Freddy was taken out of the cell, and on passing another apartment, made ferocious demonstrations towards another man who was regarding him from the unfavorable side of the bars. The inmate of the cell gave him a cordial invitation to come inside and do that. The officer in charge promptly agreed to the arrangement, but Freddy collapsing in view of the proportions of his proposed chum, begged to be put anywhere else. He was accordingly placed in a cell by himself.

An Unpleasant Promise.

Mr. M. Zeiney, of the Fifth ward, came before Alderman Taylor, yesterday, and made information charging Frank Hossack, of Birmingham, with surety of the peace. The deponent alleges that the accused came to his house, and when standing talking with him at the front door, assaulted him. Mr. Z. did not care much for the assault, but Mr. Hossack indulged in a very questionable remark, saying "d—m you Mr. Zeiney! If I ever catch you outside of your house, I'll kill you." This unpleasant promise was what worried the deponent, and caused the deposition. The accused was arrested by officer Bell, and held to bail for a further hearing.

Larceny of a Pocket Book.—Thos. Watson and Richard Welsh are boarders in the New York House, Ninth ward. Welsh has a cousin who has a habit of losing his pocket book. On going out, a day or two ago, the cousin offered Watson two dollars to keep his pocket book, containing eleven dollars, in his trunk. The trust was undertaken, the money counted in the presence of Welsh and the owner, and locked up. On going to get the pocket book out, yesterday, the book and its contents were found to have been stolen. Mr. Watson immediately suspected Welsh as the thief, as he saw the money deposited. Moreover he has a key to Watson's trunk, which Watson himself made for him. Information was made before Alderman Taylor, and a warrant was issued.

Orphan's Fair.—The managers have added a new feature to the attractions at City Hall. Professor Bario last night gave one of his magic exhibitions—such as producing goblets filled with gold fish, and other astonishing tricks. It will be repeated this evening, and on Wednesday night Professor Deumer, assisted by a full chorus, will give a free concert to all who attend City Hall.

Fifth Ward School Board.—The School Board of the Fifth ward met yesterday and organized for the current year. William Crawford, jr., of the firm of Shoenberger & Co., was elected President, on motion of Col. Joseph Kaye, who had himself been requested to fill the position but had peremptorily declined. Alderman James S. Taylor was elected Secretary.

Assault and Battery.—Catharine Leeson yesterday preferred a charge of assault and battery against Mrs. Lettimore, before Alderman Taylor. The parties reside in the Fifth ward, and, as is alleged, Mrs. Lettimore struck Mrs. Leeson two blows on the forehead with a wooden beetle, thus rendering her beetle-browed. A warrant was issued.

Died of His Injuries.—Mr. Samuel Hunter, whose severe injuries from being ran over by a metal wagon, we mentioned yesterday, died yesterday morning at about nine o'clock from injuries received. Coroner Clawson empannelled a jury yesterday morning, and the inquest will be concluded this afternoon at four o'clock.

Paine & Co's Argentine—For instantly plating all articles of copper, brass or German silver, with pure silver, where worn off, and for cleansing and polishing silver or silver-plated ware. Warranted to contain no quicksilver or acid, or any injurious article. For sale by J. Sample, Allegheny, and all druggists. del8:tf

The Oratorio.—Our readers will not forget that the grand oratorio of Haydn's Creation will be rendered to-night at the Academy of Music by the Pittsburgh Choral Union. A few more choice seats remain unsold, which can be obtained at the Music Store of Mr. C. C. Mellor, No. 81 Wood street.

Still Living.—Henry Streng, the victim of Jacob Baltzell's rage, in Allegheny, was still living last evening, though his condition is becoming more and more critical. Rosa, the daughter, is rapidly recovering from her slight wound and is able to be about.

TUESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1867.

YESTERDAY morning the Commercial contained a double-leaded editorial, reflecting in the severest manner upon one of the Republican candidates for United States Senator, and upon several members of the Legislature. We know something of the Senatorial contest now progressing, but we know nothing to justify such damaging imputations. If our neighbor does, he should go before the proper grand jury and demand bills of indictment. If he does not know enough to lead him to do this, he does not know enough to excuse his sweeping incriminations.

So far we have avoided espousing the claims of either Cameron or Curtin for Senator. We know each of them well, and have served each, in time past, disinterestedly, and at our own proper cost and charges; but we have not shouldered the quarrel of either against the other, and do not mean to now or in time to come. But we resent, as a slander upon the Republican party, and upon representative government, the sweeping and unsupported charges made by the Commercial. The most unscrupulous Democratic organ in the State has never made so terrific and unprovoked an assault upon any man or men of the Republican party.

IDEAS OF SOUTHERN LOYALISTS.

The Southern Republican Association includes among its members nearly every prominent Unionists in the Southern States. A series of resolutions and a memorial, adopted by this association on Restoration, have been presented to Congress and referred to the Committee having that subject in charge. The ground taken is that upon the surrender of the rebel armies the population of the Southern States passed under the control of the President, but only in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the army, and for no other purpose than to maintain order until the will of Congress could be asserted. Whoever considers this point maturely, not simply in view of the explicit provisions of the Constitution, but as enlightened by the genius of popular government, will certainly perceive that no other idea is admissible. The President has neither dictatorial nor legislative powers, as a civil magistrate. His function is to execute such laws as are made by the department charged with that authority. This conception being admitted, it follows necessarily that the President, in proceeding to appoint Provisional Governors, in convoking Conventions to amend State Constitutions, in dictating what amendments should be made, and in generally prescribing the conditions precedent to Reconstruction, totally transcended his power, and transgressed equally against Congress and the revolted States. Whatever he did in these particulars is consequently null and void.

Recognizing these principles, the Association urge Congress to set aside all the President has done in creating spurious governmental organizations, and to establish others based on the admission to the right of suffrage and elegibility to office of all loyal citizens of whatever race or color they may be; exclusion, until relieved by Congress, from the right of suffrage, and from offices of honor, trust or profit under under the general, State, Territorial and municipal governments, of all persons who held office under the Confederate States, or any one of them, and whether the office was civil or military. This goes vastly beyond the pending Constitutional Amendment, for that deprives no man of the right to vote, leaves the whole question of suffrage to be determined by the States respectively, and only debars from office those who held positions of the higher grades under the rebel government, and that until Congress shall see proper to remove the restriction.

It is evident from the positions taken either that the Southern Unionists are better informed than Congress of the evil to be combatted, and of the instrumentalities adapted to that end, or else that their feelings have become exacerbated by the wrongs and indignities to which they have been subjected to such a degree as to warp their judgments. It must be confessed, however, that in their Memorial they make out a strong case. They show that the men who began and engineered the rebellion control the Southern States and fill all the offices; that the worst rebels have been chosen as Representatives in Congress; that the Civil Rights bill is disregarded; that Union men and Freedmen are murdered, and socially and civilly proscribed; that the Constitutional Amendment has been defiantly rejected; that Treason is triumphant, and Loyalty prostrate, as absolutely as during the war. Current facts, known to all men of ordinary information, go far to sustain these incriminations. It is a different question whether the measures proposed are the only, or any remedy whatever, for the evils enumerated. When a nation has been long agitated by violent passions, which have culminated in fierce and bloody collisions, it is against experience to maintain they will instantly or speedily subside. In proportion to the degree of agitation, and to the unanimity in which it was shared by the controlling classes, will be the time required for allaying it. Defeat has a logic in it to induce those who suffer it to submit to what is inevitable, but not to change their ideas of the merits of the controversy. It has often happened that victors, by pressing advantages to the uttermost, have kept enmities alive when they would have gone out, and sent contentions down the stream of time to perplex future generations, which might readily have been quenched at the moment. What is desirable is to hit the true mean between a mischievous lenity and an equally mischievous severity. That is the delicate duty laid upon Congress, and upon the loyal people of the United States.

| Cutlery, and other manufactures.......... | 4,729,975 |
| | $ 7,761,806 |

WOOL AND WOOLENS.—There was imported into this country, last year, articles to values as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| Wool.......... | $10,066,533 |
| Woolen and worsted goods.......... | 57,084,920 |
| | $67,151,312 |
| Re-shipped.......... | 374,860 |

ALLEGHENY CITY ELECTION.

The Republicans of the City of Allegheny will bear in mind that this is the day for the election of Mayor, members of Councils, School Directors, and Director of the Poor. As there is an opposing ticket in the field it is important that a full vote be cast. The only possible hope of the opposition lies in the apathy of the republicans. With so great a preponderance of republican sentiments the defeat of any one of the nominees of the party would be a public shame, especially as these nominees are eminently worthy and fit for the several offices for which they are candidates. We understand the principal struggle of the opposition will be made for the Mayoralty.

JOHN MORRISON, the present incumbent and our candidate for re-election, is so well-known for his dignified and efficient administration of the office hitherto, and so justly esteemed for his intelligence, urbanity and high moral character, that it can be only necessary to remind his fellow citizens that this is election day—and it is their duty to go to the polls and honor themselves by re-electing the present worthy Mayor. It is of scarcely less importance, and no less a duty while at the polls to vote the Republican ticket full and complete for Councilmen, School Directors and Director of the Poor.

PRINTING PAPER.

To show how completely the newspaper and book publishers of the United States are in the hands of the domestic paper manufacturers, we quote all the specifications of the Secretary of the Treasury relative to the importation of foreign papers last year:

|---|---|
| Writing paper.......... | $ 578,784 |
| Paper Hangings.......... | 93,975 |
| Paper Boxes.......... | 31,262 |
| Manufactures not specified.......... | 453,004 |
| Parchment.......... | 12,791 |
| Papier-mache.......... | 7,771 |
| | $1,157,587 |

No printing paper. The domestic manufacturers have had the market exclusively to themselves, and as there has been no over production, they have made the prices to suit their own pockets. We do not complain of the exclusion of foreign printing paper, for we are Protectionists. Nor are we weak enough to complain of the greed of the domestic paper makers. We expect the producers of any article to take the highest price the market will give them. But we look forward to the time as not distant, when over-production shall yield its natural results and the paper makers shall be forced, in lessened rates, to make indemnity for present exactions. The coal trade now furnishes an illustration in point. But for this consideration we should reject Protection and declare for Free Trade.

The Constitutional Amendment as a Basis of Reconstruction.

EDITORS GAZETTE:—A strong aversion to yielding to the General Government any more authority or power than may be deemed necessary for it to efficiently discharge its duties, pervades all parties and classes without distinction. The people are jealous of their rights, and regard the least privation of them with great distrust. Yet it is conceded that our Government, like all others, though not to an equal extent, requires that the citizens shall partially forego their natural rights to enable it to achieve its ends. Without this government of any kind is impossible. The only question in this connection which claims attention is whether we have yielded or are required to yield too much or not enough of our national liberties to render the government efficient on the one hand, and to preserve these liberties as little impaired as is compatible with the object to be attained on the other. This question, however, is not mooted, albeit we have occasionally heard a shriek of centralization. But it was only during political campaigns we have heard it and for purposes easily conjectured. Besides it was intended, measurably at least, to signify an imaginary or ideal absorption of State authority by the General Government, though the suspicion was not at all applicable to the former allegation, its agitation in the midst of the political convulsions produced by the war, excited apprehensions in the minds of some, and called forth bitter denunciations from others. Taking advantage of these circumstances, those who evinced great zeal for State rights, by an adroit substitution of States for persons in the argument, or, in other words, by arguing on the hypothesis that the impairing of State rights was necessarily and in fact equivalent to the impairing of the rights of the citizens, showed, with a color of truth, that the General Government was wresting from the people their rights; for it is true that State Sovereignty does not loom up in the proportions it used to; and it is equally true that a very considerable augmentation of Federal authority has been gained.

But is it thought by any one that because power over persons and property is transferred from the State governments to the general, that such transfer injures the rights of citizens? What reason is there for it? None in the world. A partial surrender of natural right is absolutely necessary, and whether such surrender be made to a State government or to the general, is a mere matter of choice and not of difference or quantity.

It is doubtless advantageous to have State governments indued with power to regulate most of the affairs of the people that are properly the subjects of governmental regulation. The relation between the two is more intimate than that subsisting between the general government and the people could be. Besides, by their assuming the regulation and control of such affairs as fall within their sphere, the supreme government is relieved from innumerable duties and obligations that would greatly complicate its functions and thus impair its efficiency. But it is both profitless and absurd to draw an arbitrary line of demarcation between its rights and those of the States. The citizen gains nothing by it, because he is required to surrender only so much, however the line may be drawn. He may however, lose much. By denying the right to do particular things to the the general government, he may so enervate and weaken it, as to partially destroy its efficiency, and render it inadequate to the proper discharge of its duties. By this very process the government was embarrassed during the war, and it stands now in the way of a first and complete reconstruction of the revolted States.

But it will be asked, what necessary right is denied to it? I reply the right to regulate and secure suffrage. Democrats and rebels, and a large number of the representatives of the party in power, deny this right to it, alleging that it belongs to the States. Inconsistently enough, the latter acknowledge that the supreme government is bound to guarantee to each State a republican form of government, and that a state government which denies suffrage to a class or race on account of color, is not republican in form, but oligarchical; yet these very men, yclept statesmen, deny the right of Congress over the question of suffrage, when it is as obvious as anything can be, that the regulation and securing of impartial suffrage by it is absolutely indispensable under existing circumstances, to the erection and maintenance of such republican governments. It seems to have been entirely forgotten by this class of politicians, that the grant of a general power like this, carries with it all necessary auxiliary powers. To vest in the government this power over the States just as certainly enables it to declare and direct by law who shall be voters, and that none shall be debarred by the States from voting who come within an impartial definition, as if it were written in the Constitution in so many words.

It will be said the Government can see to it that each State shall have a government republican in form without taking this doubtful step. How? In the name of common sense, how? Unless by a declaratory statute the Government accurately defines what a republican form of government is, how is the question to be settled? Shall it be left to the judgment and discretion of the existing Congress at the time the decision is required? If so, one Congress may decide it one way, and the next another, and thus the States and people will be in continual doubt and uncertainty, which is contrary to every precept of government. Shall it be taken to the Supreme Court to be decided? Who will be complainant? Besides, if that tribunal has no law by which to determine the question, how much better off will it be than the Congress on whom the duty might devolve? Shall it be left to the States? Look at Maryland, with her penal code, punishing whites according to the common law, and placing blacks, by judicial rules, in a state of slavery as a punishment. Look at North Carolina, where black offenders are tied to posts and whipped, such whipping forever disfranchising them, while white ones are punished by the ordinary modes of incarceration, if they are punished at all. Look at South Carolina, with her vagrancy acts, which, by a most convenient construction, reduce black offenders to service on the plantation under the lash of a driver, and condemn white ones to the jail or the penitentiary, unless their offence be against negroes, in which case they go scot free. Look at Texas, within whose borders over six hundred blacks have been murdered by whites since the overthrow of the rebellion, as stated by Governor Hamilton of that State, and not more than three or four have been punished out of the lot; while, on the other hand, scarcely a negro offender escapes condign punishment. Look at the revolted States generally, with white populations in whom exist the strongest prejudices and most savage animosities against the blacks, sharpened by their being the innocent cause of the war, and which a century will scarcely suffice to eradicate, if history furnishes us any criterion by which to judge. Think of the lynchings and oppressions everywhere committed; reflect upon these things and many others that cry for redress, and say, if you can, that a just government, bound by considerations of gratitude in this case as well as duty to protect all its citizens in the enjoyment of their rights, shall leave the settlement of this all important question to the States. It makes no difference if the Constitution does say that "the times, places and manner of holding elections," shall be prescribed by the States. This by no means releases the government from protecting its citizens, nor does it affect the case if adverse constructions and decisions have been rendered by the Supreme Court. Democratic courts went Democratic doctrine; and Republican courts construe the Constitution and laws conformably to the tenets of that organization, and the decisions thus rendered stand respectively during the ascendency of the one or the other. Protection is an absolute duty, and must be afforded though never so many formal objections stand in the way. Let our present Congress therefore clear away the sophisms and technicalities, the products of narrow conceptions, that prevent it from doing its whole duty, and proceed in the right direction at once. The popular will, which gives tone not only to legislation but to the construction of the Constitution itself, will sustain it. Let it be made so plain that all men shall be equal before the law, that even Democrats shall realize it.

It has doubtless appeared that the proposed amendment of the Constitution is regarded as altogether inadequate to remedy the evils complained of. That measure would leave the blacks at the mercy of the whites, and, if the position above taken be correct, would enable the States to erect other than republican governments, which the Constitution as it is utterly and unequivocally to my mind forbids. To incorporate it, therefore, into the Constitution, instead of making that instrument better, would render it incomparably worse. The Constitution needs no amendments. It only needs to be construed in the spirit in which it was conceived. To be sure, the first section of the Amendment declares, among other things, that no State shall abridge the privileges and immunities of the citizens of the United States or deny to any person the equal protection of the laws; yet this is but a high-sounding paraphrase of the existing Constitution, whose framers intended it to cover all that is here set forth. But the succeeding section, the second, shows, by a conclusive implication, that the first does not mean what it says at all, and, by the light thus afforded, may be brought within the Dred Scott decision, if need be, without any difficulty. This second section, too, is considered the essential part, the pith of the Amendment, and the reason given is that it will induce the Southern States to grant impartial suffrage for an increase of representation. Disguise it as we may, this is felt to be our great desideratum by every enlightened patriot. Yet moral cowardice and constitutional stickling combined to defeat the securing of it by direct means, but very conveniently suggested indirect ones, by which the responsibility for not granting it was shifted from the shoulders of Congress on to those of the revolted States.

Fortunately for the country, and fortunately for an oppressed and down trodden race, the disloyal states have rejected this amendment, and thus relieved the government from the least obligation to make it the ultimatum. It is a well known principle of law as well as morals, that when one party makes a proposal which another rejects, there is no breach of faith or turpitude in withdrawing it. Let Congress then drop this amendment, and raise in its stead the banner of impartial suffrage. T. M. B.

COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE is prepared by the originator of the justly celebrated Coe's Cough Balsam. Mr. Coe has never prepared a medicinal article for public and general use but what has won the strongest trust and has always borne the palm of victory over every disease it has been certified to cure. Will you who are suffering from dyspepsia, indigestion, nausea, sick headache, cholera morbus, dysentery, and general debility of the whole system, try but a single bottle? We will never urge you again if we fail in this case. Our own knowledge of its merits the united testimony of all who have ever tried it, the encomiums of hundreds of our own neighbors, your duty to yourself, and the beneficial results, as certain as sunshine, all urgently, persistently urge you to try just one bottle. If what we say is not correct—if our statements concerning its wonderful virtues are not found to be true—if you do not say that the operation of the medicine is instantaneous and perfectly wonderful—we will renounce our profession as caterers to the public health, and our claims that we are competent to compound a medicinal preparation which would be entitled to your confidence.

SEASONABLE SUGGESTIONS.—Winter, in this climate, is a trying Season. Its sudden alternations of temperature greatly aggravate dyspepsia, and acts very unfavorably upon that sensitive organ, the liver. The alternation of frost and thaw keeps the pores of the body continually opening and contracting, and the result is a condition of the system favorable to the action of the atmospheric virus which produces intermittent fevers. Hence a PROTECTIVE MEDICINE like HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS is especially needed in the winter months. The effect of this great CONSTITUTIONAL INVIGORANT in rendering even the feeblest frame to pervious to all malarious influences, is a great act demonstrated by the uniform experience of a quarter of a century. As a stomachic, an anti-bilious medicine, and a preventive and cure of Fever and Ague, it is the ONE THING NEEDFUL, which none who value the preservation of health can afford to do without.

THE SICK, WHEN AT DEATH'S DOOR, regret that they did not take the right antidote at the right time. Thousands who are now suffering from the early twinges of liver complaint and dyspepsia, will be prostrate on sick-beds a month hence, if they do not arrest the mischief at once. Nothing is more easy. A course of the purest and best vegetable tonic and alterative known in modern pharmacy—HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS—will restore the digestive organs to their full vigor, and bring the disordered liver into a good condition of perfect health, as certainly as sunshine dissipates the morning vapors. Fever and Ague, too, is at once broken up by this powerful antidote to all miasmatic diseases. Strengthen the system with the BITTERS, and you may defy all the complaints which prevail at this inclement season. ja1

Read what the Chicago Press Say:

[From Chicago Times.]

NORTH AMERICAN PRIZE CONCERT.—Among the first gift enterprises ever commenced in Chicago, was that of Messrs. A. A. Kelley & Co., which has been perpetual for more than three years past, and has given the most perfect satisfaction. It is we are unable to judge by the extensive patronage accorded it. They are the proprietors of the "North American Prize Concert," now so extensively advertised in this and other papers, and endorsed by some of the best business firms in this country. From what we know of Mr. Kelley, we are positive that he will, in the future as in the past, "deal fairly and honorably with all who take stock in his enterprise."

[From the Chicago Journal.]

KELLEY & CO.'S GIFT ENTERPRISE.—The first to embark in the gift enterprise business in Chicago was the firm of A. A. Kelley & Co., located at 105 Randolph street. Who does not remember their store, which passed two or three years ago, where so many purchased books and other articles, and were so lucky as to find with their purchases tickets which entitled them to valuable gifts of Jewelry or other prizes? Thousands of our citizens were thus fortunate, and we have the best evidences that Messrs. Kelley & Co. always perform all they promise; that they are honorable men and do business honorably and fair on the square. The CONCERT to be given at the Wabash Avenue Rink, Chicago, Illinois.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 26, 1867.

This is the Greatest Distribution of the Nineteenth century, and most successful enterprise of the kind ever inaugurated in the world. 250,000 VALUABLE PRIZES, valued at HALF A MILLION DOLLARS, including $100,000 IN GREENBACKS. Will be presented to ticket holders.

A SPECIAL NOTICE TO THE PEOPLE.

The proprietors of this grand enterprise have great pleasure in being able to inform the subscribers to their Concert that it is on an assured success. Out of 500,000 tickets issued, only 38,000 remain unsold. The proprietors do not wish to hold a single ticket when the concert takes place, as it might create dissatisfaction among our patrons, and there ore have been compelled to extend the time to JANUARY 26th, 1867, when it will positively take place without any further postponement.

For 15 years we have been engaged in the gift business, and we point with pride to the reputation we have won for honesty and integrity. Many of the prominent citizens of Chicago will bear witness to the statement that we have never made any promises to the public that we have not sacredly fulfilled, and we refer to the leading bankers and merchants of New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago for our character for fair dealing.

In spite of all opposition and every obstacle, we shall prove to the public that the North American Prize Concert will be conducted honorably, and all the prizes advertised will be distributed fairly, impartially and without reserve.

The plan of drawing adopted is the following:—Duplicate numbers from 1 to 500,000 are placed in a wheel; the first number drawn out takes the highest prize, the next, the second highest prize, and so on until the whole 250,000 prizes are drawn.

We advise all parties wanting tickets to send for them at once. All orders for tickets will be promptly filled.

I would respectfully call your attention to the great and constantly increasing travel on Second street. The street is only forty (40) feet wide from Ross street to the gas works. It should be at least sixty (60) feet in width. When the street is being repaired there is hardly a possibility of properly performing the work, as the street cannot be closed up on account of their being no other outlet from the city in that neighborhood. The best remedy for this is, in my opinion, to open Gas street through to Brewery street. Gas street is now open from Try street to the Kensington iron works. A portion of the Schenley estate is situated on both sides of Gas street, in the rear of Mr. Parry's foundry, and the agents of the estate claim some sixty (60) feet. By the opening of Gas street to Brewery street the only property to be passed through will be the yard of the Kensington iron works, belonging to Messrs. Lloyd & Black. I propose that the city should vacate Iron alley for the use of Messrs. Lloyd & Black, and take in exchange the property necessary to open Gas street. Iron alley is now of no service to the city, and, under the circumstances of the locality, it never will be. All of which is respectfully submitted by Your obedient servant,

JOHN FLINN, Street Commissioner.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

RECORDING REGULATOR'S OFFICE, }
PITTSBURGH, December 31, 1866. }

TO THE SELECT AND COMMON COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH—GENTLEMEN:—The undersigned respectfully makes the following report for the year 1866.

CHARLES REICHSPARR,
Recording Regulator.

NEW WORK WAS DONE ON THE FOLLOWING STREETS AND ALLEYS.

[illegible]

TO THE SELECT AND COMMON COUNCILS OF THE CITY OF PITTSBURGH: GENTLEMEN:—The Street Committee would respectfully report that for the year just closing December 31st, 1866, they have endeavored to discharge their duty faithfully and conscientiously, and to the best of their ability to act promptly and impartially upon all the business that was referred to them, from time to time, and as the business for the past year has been unusually great, the labors of your committee have been correspondingly great, and as the year closes our labors as a committee will be at an end; and now, as we are about to separate, some of us not to return to Councils again, we desire to recommend that the following changes, in our opinion, should be made:

As the duties and labors of the Recording Regulator have become very onerous and responsible, we think that Councils should amend the ordinance defining his duties, and would recommend that the Street Commissioners of the First and Second Districts be included therein, and that it be their duty to assist the Regulator and to oversee and report to him upon all streets which are being newly paved; if they are not done as the ordinance of the city provides.

Also, that in all cases where the Regulator grants permits for the opening of streets for the purpose of putting in water, gas, &c., it shall be the duty of the Commissioner of each District to oversee and examine the repaving thereof, and when not done properly and to their satisfaction, that they have power to repave the same and collect the costs or expenses from the contractor or property owner, as the case may be, as in many instances we find the work attending such cases done in a very imperfect manner. We would also recommend that you do away with the present system of paying the Regulator part by salary and part by fees, for regulating lots, as we think it works badly. Pay the Regulator a good and liberal salary, and let the fees for regulating lots be paid into the City Treasury.

In behalf of our City Regulator and Street Commissioners we would report that they have discharged their duties faithfully and fearlessly. Their labor for the past year has been very great, as their annexed statement of work performed will show. We recommend them to your favorable consideration.

We acknowledge the receipt of $150 62 from J. F. Hunter, First District Street Commissioner, and $1,991 13 from John Flinn, Second District Street Commissioner, making in all $4,351 75, which sum they have collected throughout the year from different sources. This amount we have paid to the City Treasurer and got his receipt therefor. Your Committee are much gratified at the large amount of moneys thus collected and paid over to the City Commissioners for the present year, and we desire to call the attention of Councils to this fact.

We would further report that as complaints have frequently come to the notice of your Committee as to the manner in which certain contractors have performed their work in paving, &c., we would respectfully suggest that, to remedy the evil all contractors in future be required to warrant their work for a year or six months from the completion of the contract, and that they be required to enter into bonds with the city to this effect before commencing work.

Also, that as a further means of improvement and to keep pace with the advancement of the times, we would recommend to the favorable notice of Councils a kind of street pavement known as the Nicholson pavement. This we think is worthy of your attention, and we would here take the opportunity of stating that we have been informally notified by a second party that the Pittsburgh Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway Company are willing, with the consent of Councils, to put down a test section on Penn street, in front of their office buildings, and that they would pay all the expenses attending it.

All of which is most respectfully submitted.

Criminal Court Proceedings.

The Criminal Court, Judge Stowe presiding, assembled on Monday, at ten o'clock. The following cases were disposed of:

ALLEGED BOARDING-HOUSE THIEF.

Harris Byers was brought from prison and placed on trial on an indictment charging him with larceny. About the 5th of December last clothing and other articles, to the amount in value of about one hundred and fifty dollars, were stolen from boarding-house No. 158 Penn street, kept by a Mr. Livingston. About the time the robbery was discovered the defendant left the boarding-house, taking his carpet-sack containing his effects. He was followed by Mr. Livingston, and, after having gone about a square, he returned to the boarding-house, as requested, submitted to a search of his carpet-sack, and was detained until an officer appeared and took him into custody. None of the property alleged to have been stolen was found upon him, except a pair of cotton socks, identified by a mark as the property of James Martin, who had also lost from his trunk a comb and a dozen paper collars. The only ground upon which the prisoner could be convicted was that of being found in the possession of stolen property, and as a defense to this it was shown that the socks were found in the defendant's overcoat, which had been loaned to another party, and about which there had been some difficulty. The jury found a verdict of not guilty.

SADDLE ON THE WRONG HORSE.

The next case was one in which the Commonwealth, so far as the evidence went, attempted to saddle the larceny of a sett of harness upon the wrong party. The traces of guilt, however, were not conclusive, and the reins of justice held taut, so that the mistake was rectified. The defendant was Matthias Adams. In addition to the fact that the harness was found in his possession, his declaration, at the time of his arrest, was admitted, viz: That he had purchased them from Charles Morrow, agreeing to pay ten dollars therefor. As evidence of guilt, it was shown that he attempted to escape whilst in charge of the officer and on the way to prison. The horses were stolen from the stable of John Eichley, at White Hall tavern, on the Brownsville road, in September last, in the night time. For the defense a witness (brother-in-law of defendant) was called, who testified that he was in a wagon with defendant and Charles Morrow; that after passing White Hall (where they had stopped to take a drink) Morrow got out and went ahead; that as the wagon came up Morrow threw into it the harness; that after getting home Adams, the defendant, purchased them from Morrow for ten dollars, giving him some money on account and a revolver; that upon hearing that Adams was going to be arrested, Morrow fled and has not since been heard of. Although from the evidence Morrow might have known that the harness were stolen, unless the jury believed that he participated in the larceny, he could not be convicted under the present indictment. Adams proved a good character for honesty, and the fact also appeared that he was a poor man, with a wife and five children. The jury believing that Morrow was the guilty party, rendered a verdict of not guilty.

ASSAULTS AND BATTERIES.

George Whitmore, butcher, and Owen Williams, rolling mill hand, residing at Wood's Run, a few days since, had a difficulty about a meat bill, which culminated in an assault and battery, Whitmore striking Williams in the face. The case going against the defendant, he was fined one dollar and the costs.

Conrad Schlagel plead not guilty to an indictment charging him with having committed an assault and battery upon Mrs. Elizabeth Mueller. The parties reside in the Fifth ward, are neighbors, and the difficulty seems to have been caused by some boys building bonfires in the neighborhood. The defendant was alleged to have entered the house of the prosecutrix, in a drunken condition, and whilst expostulating as to the conduct of her son, for being concerned in building the fires, seized her rudely and indulged in violent language. For the defense the violence proven by the prosecution, was contradicted. No verdict at adjournment.

Killed.

On Saturday morning, December 29th, Mr. Erastus C. Scranton, President of the New York and New Haven railroad, was instantly killed by being run over by a car attached to the 6:30 train from New Haven to New York. Mr. Scranton was on his way to New York, in company with his only daughter, a young lady 17 years of age, and on the arrival of the train at Norwalk he proceeded to an oyster depot for the purpose of making some purchases. When he returned to the station the cars were in motion, and in attempting to mount the platform of the car in which his daughter sat, the unfortunate gentleman missed his footing, and falling under the car was so severely injured that life was nearly extinct. This sudden and unhappy fate of Mr. Scranton has cast a gloom over that city in which he had been for many years past an active public office. In May last Mr. Scranton's term as Mayor of New Haven expired, and it was in the same month that the Directors elected him to the office of President of the New York and New Haven railroad. Mr. Scranton was also President of the Elm City Bank of New Haven, and in all of these capacities had won for himself the good opinions and confidence of all with whom he came in contact. The deceased was about 55 years of age, and leaves a wife and one child. Mr. Scranton was formerly a resident of Scranton, in this State.

Catholic Library Association.

The members of this association meet this evening to elect officers for the ensuing year. Two tickets are in the field, including the following named gentlemen:

President—Theodore E. Tack; Mr. Geo. H. Keyser. Vice President—N. J. Bigley; Dr. L. Oldshoe. Treasurer—James Phelan; John D. Scully. Secretary—A. F. Keating; John C. Barr. Directors—Jeremiah Dunlevy, Jr., Charles B. Kennedy, Thomas P. Houston, Patrick Smith, Henry Kane, Ed. F. McElroy, James B. Dodge, Maurice Coll, Thomas Barnes, William Keally.

Consolatory.—The Hazleton Sentinel is consoling in the following manner: The Luzerne Union is exercised lest while the Luzerne county is "swinging round the circle," Hazleton should fly off in a tangent to Carbon county, and not be held to pay for the new penitentiary that is about to be built at Wilkes-Barre at a cost to the county of $200,000. It even gives currency to a silly rumor that money will be improperly used to accomplish a separation. We feel assured that should the question again be brought to the attention of the Legislature—of which we have as yet heard nothing here—the friends of the measure would be quite willing to let it rest on its own merits, confident that a fair hearing only is required.

"Who Are You?"—The above rather interesting query forms the subject of the lecture to be delivered at seven o'clock this evening, at the First Methodist Church, on Fifth street, by the Rev. Alexander Clark, A. M., pastor of the Church named, and editor of "Our School Day Visitor." The subject chosen is one of exceeding interest, and the able and eloquent manner in which it will be discussed by the learned gentleman will render it still more so. The object of the lecture, however, is its principal claim on the large attention of the people. The proceeds of the evening are to be devoted to the benefit of the Second Methodist Church of this city. Go one and all.

Desperate Ruffians.—The Scranton Republican says: Three ruffians, members of a gang which for some time has been troublesome in this vicinity, last Sunday night assaulted Thomas James, watchman at the National Colliery (Carr's Patch), and not only beat him but shot him through the thigh. A few days ago members of the same gang, and in the same vicinity, beat, robbed, and stripped two old men, and left them for dead. A warrant has for some time been out against one of them for assaulting the mining boss at the National, but his friends keep him in hiding, so that the officers have not been able to get him.

A Slight Impediment.—The Doylestown Intelligencer gets of the following: One Chas. Dougherty, of Luzerne county, was recently appointed consul to Londenderry by President Johnson. Just as he was ready to start, his bail had him arrested as a defaulter, he having been tax collector in the county. For a time he was compelled to sojourn in one of the public institutions at Wilkes-Barre. We have not learned whether matters have been so adjusted that this new favorite of the President can enter upon his duties, but it is not likely that a small affair of this kind will cause much interruption.

Mrs. Swisshelm as a Novelist.—Mrs. Jane G. Swisshelm, whilom of the Saturday Visitor, of this city, then editress of a paper in the far Northwest, and more recently a clerk in the War Department, has written a novel, founded on Washington life, which, it is said, photographs a number of government officials in and about Washington. Lady Jane is generally in the vein when she puts pen to paper, of saying caustic things; and we feel inclined to sympathize with any official who has incurred her ire, and is, therefore, likely to be one of the promised "photographs."

The Steamboat Larceny.—Charles Baker, charged by J. W. Cowden with stealing from the chambermaid's room on the steamer New York a coat worth $75, and a pair of buckskin gloves worth $5, the property of Edward McCabe, had a final hearing before the Mayor yesterday morning, and, in default of $300 bail, was committed to jail to await his trial at Court.

An Accident.—John Graham, a lad twelve years of age, had his right leg broken, just above the ankle, yesterday morning, while sledding in Diamond alley. He ran against the hind wheel of a wagon, which had just come out of Cherry into Diamond alley, with such force as to cause the painful accident named. The lad resided with his parents in Cherry alley.

Common Pleas Court.—Judge Mellon presiding. James Torrence's Executors vs. William Adams.—Action to recover arrears of rent. Verdict in favor of plaintiffs for $160.08.

George Hersher vs. Perry & Bro.—Action to recover $465.40, amount of two promissory notes. Verdict in favor of plaintiffs for the full amount claimed.

District Court.—This Court was in session on Monday, Judge Williams on the bench, and disposed of the case of Kramer & Rahm, for use of Thomas Moore vs. Bartlett, Ewing & Co., in which a verdict was given in favor of plaintiffs for the sum of $2,587.81.

Old Soldier.—John Grey, a revolutionary soldier, 103 years old, lives in Noble county, Ohio. His time of service was so short that he can draw no pension under existing laws, and his friends have applied to Congress for a special pension for him.

Admitted to Practice.—On motion of John H. Hampton, Esq., on Monday, David T. Watson was admitted to practice law in the several courts of Allegheny county.

Patents Granted.

The following is a list of patents issued from the United States Patent Office to persons in this vicinity, for the week ending January 1st, 1867: George P. Lang and Peter Lansier, of Allegheny, Pa., for improvement in making jug tops; William J. Miller, of the borough of McKeesport, Pa., for improved apparatus for steering vessels by steam; H. Pemberton, of Allegheny, Pa., for improvement in the manufacture of sulphurate of alumina, alum and other aluminous compounds; Edward Powell, Conneautville, Pa., for spring crupper, antedated December 29, 1866; John H. Bear, of York, Pa., for improvement in horse hay rake and seeder combined; Asa Bee, of White Oak, West Virginia, for improvement in saws; Edwin L. Bergstresser, of Sunbury, Pa., for improvement in gates; Amasa Cobb, of Pittsburgh, for photographic bath, ante-dated December 19, 1866; J. C. Hoffeditz, of Mercersburg, Pa., for improvement in cultivators; J. C. Hoffeditz, of Mercersburg, Pa., for improvement in mode of attaching cultivator teeth. Re-issued—Henry Pemberton, of Allegheny, Pa., for improvement in refining hydro-carbon oils, and neutralizing waste products therefrom. Patented August 2d, 1859.

Died Suddenly.—The Sunbury American says: Robert Brooks, whose family reside in this place, and who has lately been employed in the coal region, was arrested at Mt. Carmel, on Wednesday last, for breaking into a restaurant. The constable took him in charge and put him on the regular passenger train on the Shamokin Valley Railroad, intending to put him in jail in this place. When the train stopped the conductor, supposing him asleep, shook him, when he found that life was extinct. Various rumors are afloat as to the cause of his death, but it is supposed that it resulted from apoplexy.

An Ill-Omened Prize.—The house valued at $6,000, and drawn by Israel Witwer, of Lancaster county, in the National Gift Concert in Washington City, proves to be none other than that inhabitted by the Suratt family, wherein the assassination of President Lincoln was concocted. A report has gained currency that the house is haunted, and the people in the neighborhoood have had their rents reduced because of exposure to an unabatable nuisance.

Prison Warden to be Elected.—The Board of Prison Inspectors have decided that after the present year the Warden of the County Prison and his assistant shall be elected annually, instead of holding the office "during good behaviour," as formerly. Mr. White and Mr. Smith, the present incumbents continue in office until January, 1868. Of course they will be eligible to re-election.

Catching a Rat.—A large rat accidentally got into a Cleveland and Pittsburgh passenger car, the other day, before it left the depot, and created considerable consternation among the lady passengers by running up a boy's leg while trying to effect an escape. The boy screamed "bloody murder," and his friends, mounting upon the backs of seats, left Mr. Norway master of the situation.

An old Inhabitant.—John Goldsmith died at his residence in Eaton, Ohio, on the 23d of December, at the age of 91. He had lived on the same spot for over 60 years, has been a resident of Ohio for 70 years, a church member for nearly 60 years, had served in the war 1812, and leaves a wife aged 90, with whom he had lived over 66 years.

Take Care.—Farmers and others driving horses through the city should exercise great care this slippery weather, especially on the streets on which railway tracks are laid down. There have been a number of accidents recently to valuable animals, by slipping on the iron and falling.

Soldiers' Orphans.—There are now in various schools of Pennsylvania, receiving care and education at the expense of the Commonwealth, between three and four thousand little boys and girls, orphans of Pennsylvania soldiers and sailors who perished in the war for the Union.

Stopping Work.—The Pottsville Journal states that but few collieries are at work in the coal region, and more were to stop this week until prices improve so as to prevent loss.

New Bridge.—The new bridge at Petroleum Centre has been opened for the accommodation of the public. Until within a few days, the cold stream has been forded by horses.

Lecture.—Rev. Mr. Watkins' lecture, on "The Use and Abuse of English words," will take place at Trinity M. E. Church, Ninth ward, January 14th.

Fruit Growers.—On the 16th of January, the Pennsylvania Fruit Grower's Association will meet in Harrisburg.

HARDICK'S
Patent Double-Acting
STEAM PUMP
AND
FIRE ENGINE,
FOR PUMPING
WATER, CRUDE AND REFINED OIL

This Pump combines all the advantages of other styles of Pumps now in the market, with none of their defects. The Patent Steam-Valve applied to this Pump enables it to start at any point of stroke by simply opening the Valve in the Steam-Pipe, and the Pump is sure to start at once without the use of a starting-bar, or the annoyance of pulling a fly wheel around to get it off the centre. For Mining purposes this Pump is peculiarly adapted, as the Valves can be removed by unscrewing one nut, and the Valve-Chest cleaned in a few minutes. As the Pump is simple in its whole construction, it does not require the neighborhood of a machine shop to keep it in working order. The Valve-Chest and Valves are made of brass or composition, and can be easily repaired or replaced when worn out. Any carpenter can make, in a few minutes, of some heavy wood, a set of Valves for this Pump, if the original ones should give out. As a Boiler Feeder, it has no superior, as it can be made to run at any speed, either slow or fast, to suit the work it has to perform. The undersigned respectfully solicit the attention of their numerous customers and the public in general to the merits of this Pump, and desire those wishing such an article to call on

FOR SALE.

FOR SALE.—A Farm of about 58 acres in Union Township, Allegheny county, Pa., situate about four miles from the city on the Washington Pike. The improvements are a large two-story brick Dwelling House with 12 rooms, a two-story Spring House, a Carriage House, a large Lumber Room, a No. 1 Frame Bank Barn, with stabling sufficient for 50 head of cattle. There is a fine Young Orchard, comprising about 12 acres, stocked with the best varieties of fruit trees. It is all underlaid with coal. The land is in a high state of cultivation, well watered, fences good, and would suit admirably for dairy or gardening purposes.
Also, 17½ acres adjoining the above, with a good Frame House, Carriage House, good Spring House and other out-buildings, with a good Orchard in fine bearing condition. This piece is also all underlaid with coal.
Also, 12 acres adjoining the above, unimproved, for sale low. This piece is also all underlaid with coal.
The above three pieces of property lie between the Little Saw Mill Run and Steubenville Railroads, and the coal can be reached easily from either road. The coal alone is worth all that is asked for the entire property.
Also Farm of 173 acres, situate in St. Clair township, Westmoreland county, Pa., immediately on the line of the Penna. Railroad. The improvements are a two-story Frame House with five rooms and good cellar, a Frame Bank Barn, 40x60 feet, and other out-buildings. There is on the place a good Young Apple Orchard; 100 acres cleared, balance in good timber, fencing generally good, well watered; underlaid with coal and limestone; convenient to churches, mills, schools and blacksmith shops, together with the personal property such as stock, implements, grain in the ground, &c. Possession given immediately.

R., 46; do preferred, 82½; Western Union Telegraph Company, 46½.

—The following statement exhibits the business of the Pittsburgh Clearing House for the week closing on Saturday, January 5th:

| | Exchanges. | Balances. |
|---|---|---|
| December 31 | $294,437 89 | $76,359 96 |
| January 2 | 437,366 26 | 79,889 31 |
| January 3 | 413,341 68 | 74,101 59 |
| January 4 | 355,285 47 | 78,883 08 |
| January 5 | 469,112 41 | 128,195 48 |
| Total | $1,909,543 82 | $437,479 41 |

—On the contraction of the volume of the paper money public opinion is becoming more settled. Two points seem to be generally agreed upon: First, that there must be a contraction, that the value of the currency dollar may be raised and made equal to coin; and secondly, that this contraction should be gradual enough to prevent spasms in the money market and revulsions in business. If it is impossible, as some suppose, to arrive at specie payments by direct efforts within the time indicated in the last annual report of the Secretary of the Treasury, then it should be as soon thereafter as practicable, for the wants of the people collectively should be considered as paramount to the interests of the comparatively few who, from overtrading and speculation, would be ruined by speedy contraction. The conservative policy, though slow, and calculated to tax the patience of the country, will at least be safe to all. The $300,000,000 of national currency is an unsafe amount, and even the advocates of the banks think that to enlarge it would bring about the downfall of the system. The destruction of four millions per month of any kind of currency, even compound interest notes, will ensure a tight money market, check speculation, and secure an approximation to a specie standard, and if nothing else can be had we must be content with that.

—The public debt statement to the 1st of January, instant, just received, shows that the total National indebtedness has been decreased but $6,396,066, which is, however, better than had been anticipated. The total debt, less cash in the Treasury, is now $2,543,325,172. The coin in the Treasury is $97,841,667, including, it is supposed, the twelve millions for January interest on bonds which were not disbursed till after the 1st instant. On the 1st of December last the coin in the Treasury was $95,168,816. The statement also shows the debt bearing interest in coin to have increased $29,422,150, and the debt bearing currency interest to have decreased $25,243,450. The three year Seven Thirty notes have been reduced $23,677,150 within the month, being now stated at $676,856,600. The three year year compound interest notes amounts to $144,900,840, against $147,387,140 on the first of December, 1866.

—Says the Chicago Tribune of Saturday: In addition to the legitimate active demand for money, by packers, provision and produce dealers, there was considerable inquiry for currency by some of the National Banks, in order to make up a "good statement" for Monday. The interior banks were also checking freely for funds to move the hog crop, and fix up "statements"—and in every quarter we heard reports of a tight money market. These "statements" are a perfect farce—an unmitigated piece of deception—and the sooner the Currency Act is amended, either abolishing or compelling more frequent publications, the better for the banks and the community. We would recommend that the National Banks, in those cities elected as redemption points, be compelled by law to make a weekly statement similar to that made by the banks in New York, Boston and Philadelphia. If this were done, the quarterly contractions in the money market (for which there is no necessity) would be entirely done away with, as the banks would have no time or opportunity to "cook" a statement, where such appears once a week.

—The Bank Stock Tax case, now before the Supreme Court, in Washington, involves more money than any case ever adjusted in the country. The exemption from or the subjection to State and local taxation, of $400,000,000, and that annually, for all time, at say, to average two per cent per annum, is about the amount involved. Bank stock must be materially influenced in value by the decision, and should it be subjected to the tax, will fall in value materially.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, January 7, 1867. }

The produce markets present no new characteristics worthy of special notice. If anything, the receipts of Flour, Grain and Hay, and other articles we might mention, are increasing, and with no corresponding improvement in the demand, stocks are accumulating and holders, generally speaking, are anxious to effect sales, and in some cases, are willing to make concessions in order to accomplish this point.

GRAIN—Wheat is in fair demand and steady but unchanged; sale of 850 bush No. 1 Spring, in elevator, at $2,55. Oats dull and in good supply; sale of 1 car at 50—small sales in store at 52 to 53. Corn is in good supply and dull; sale of 1 car prime Yellow at 78; common mixed is offered at 74 to 75. Barley continues dull and prices are nominal. Sale of 150 bush Penna. Rye, to arrive, at $1,25. Western is quoted at $1 20.

FLOUR—Is quiet and a little dull, though the market is firm and prices are well maintained. We continue to quote at $12 to $12,50, for fair to choice Spring Wheat; $13,50 to $14 for Winter Wheat; and $15 to $17 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is selling at $8 to $8¼. Buckwheat is dull at $4 per cwt.

HAY—There is no falling off in the arrivals of baled Hay, and no improvement to note in the demand. We continue to quote at $25 to $26 for prime baled, on track, notwithstanding sales are reported at $28 to $30.

HIGHWINES—Sale of 55 bbls Chicago Highwines at $2.22.

MILL FEED—Sale of 1 car fine Shorts at $1,25. Middlings may be quoted at $1.90 to $2; Seconds at $1,40 to $1,50, and Oil Meal at $2,20 to $2,25.

BUTTER—Is quiet and unchanged. Prime to choice Roll may be quoted at 30 to 33, and the supply is fully up to the demand.

EGGS—Continue very dull, with a supply considerably in excess of the demand, though holders generally, are still asking 30 for fresh packed.

APPLES—In steady demand but unchanged—we have regular sales reported at $3@$4 per bbl, as to quality.

POTATOES—Continue exceedingly dull, notwithstanding the arrivals have been light for some days past. Prime Peach Blows selling in store at 90.

SEEDS—Flaxseed is in steady demand at $2 80. No demand of any moment for either Clover or Timothy.

SORGHUM—Is quiet and unchanged—regular sales, in store, at 55 to 60, for good to choice.

DRIED FRUIT—Is quiet and unchanged—small sales at 10 for Apples, 16 to 21 for Peaches—quarters and halves.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, }
MONDAY, January 7, 1867. }

CRUDE.—There is little or no inquiry for Crude on the spot, and notwithstanding there is but little offering, the market is dull and prices are nominally unchanged—sale of 55 bbls "Smith's Ferry, at 7½. We can report a sale of five thousand barrels, for next spring delivery, at 9, and we heard of an offer to take ten thousand barrels more for same delivery, at 8¾, but so far as we can learn there are no offers to sell below nine cents. The prospects for the oil trade during the next six months are not regarded as being very flattering by the great majority of those in the business, as the supply is largely in excess of the demand, and prices will, in all probability, rule low. We have no late advices from Oil City—the eastern markets are reported dull and unchanged.

REFINED—There is more activity manifested in the market for bonded oil, the sales being unusually large, but prices are no better, and the demand is almost wholly speculative. We can report a sale of 1000 bbls for this month, on private terms; 1000 for March delivery in Philadelphia, at 30; 500 for May, at 32. On Saturday evening, one refinery sold four thousand barrels, as follows—all Philadelphia delivery: 500 bbls for May, at 33½; 500 for June, at 34; 500 for July, at 34½; 500 for August, 35; 500 for September, at 35½; 500 for October, at 36; 500 for November, at 37½, and 500 for December, at 37. Telegrams from Philadelphia to-day reported the market dull, but very few exporters operating. Free Oil is quiet and unchanged.

New York Financial Matters.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—Money rather easier at 7. Sterling dull at 9½@9⅝. Gold unsettled, opening at 134⅞, advancing to 135¼, and closing at 133⅞. The previous quotation 134⅞ was an error. Governments heavy and lower. Coupons of '81, 108⅝@108¾; do of '62, 107¼@108⅛; do of '64, 105⅞@106; do of '65, 106⅛@106¼; Ten-forties, 99⅜@100. Stocks heavy, closing steadier. Ohio certificates, 28@28½; Michigan Southern, 81⅝@81¾; Illinois Central, 20½; Pittsburgh, 89⅜@89⅝; Toledo, 26@26½; Rock Island, 35⅝@33¾; Northwestern, 46¾@46⅞; Erie, 66½; New York Central, 111; Western Union, 45⅞; Fort Wayne 41¼; Reading, 4½. Mining shares active and firm.

NEW YORK BANK STATEMENT.—Decrease in loans, $150,230; decrease in specie, $390,330; increase of circulation, $98,255; increased deposits, $1,722,274; increased legal tenders, $2,025,434; imports of specie for the week, $12,233.

Buffalo Market.

BUFFALO, January 7.—Market generally unchanged and quiet.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Produce Market.

NEW YORK, January 7.—Cotton dull and drooping, at 34½@35c for Middling Uplands; 35½@36c for Orleans. Flour is in good speculative demand, with an advance of 10@20c, at $11,10@12,80 for Extra State; $12@12.90 for Round Hoop Ohio; $13@14.50 for Trade Brands. Southern flour higher. ## RIVER NEWS.

The weather was again quite cold and wintry like yesterday, and the hopes entertained on Saturday and Sunday of an early resumption of navigation, do not seem likely to be realized soon. The winter, thus far, has been an old fashioned one, and it would not be surprising if our rivers were to remain closed until the middle of February, possibly the first of March.

The tow boat A. J. Baker arrived at New Orleans on the evening of Friday last, eight days out from Louisville, with six boats and two barges of coal in tow. This is remarkably good time, especially as the lower Ohio river was pretty well filled with floating ice before she got to Cairo, and the weather was stormy. The Ajax and Dick Fulton will have to look to their laurels.

An Evansville telegram, under date of Saturday, says: The Westmoreland and Clifton worked out this morning and went above, probably to the mouth of Green River. The Wild Cat, with a barge, just passed up. The Phantom came up from the Willows this morning and took passengers and left for Eastport. The Tigress is getting up steam to work out of the ice. It is rumored on the street that the Liberty No. 2 sunk below here; it is not credited in river circles. She left yesterday with a full load and many people.

The Cairo correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, writes as follows: The Quickstep is lying in a safe harbor near the port, on Cairo Point, but will resume her opposition to the Cairo and Evansville Mail Line as soon as the ice will permit. Capt. Dravo informs me that she has made some money, notwithstanding the tremendous efforts made against her, and that her business was rapidly increasing, and her prospects flattering.

The New Orleans Crescent, commenting on the Fashion disaster, says:

Another terrible steamboat tragedy, in the burning of the Fashion, has shocked the public sense anew, and inspired the urgent if such frightful casualties are to be continued indefinitely and beyond of hope of prevention. It is something inconceivable how events so disastrous to human life and valuable property can so frequently occur consistently with the precautions imperatively demanded at the hands of those having the custody of precious lives. At the best our river boats are little better than floating tinder boxes. Piled with bales of cotton their liabilities to ignite is a thousand fold increased. With chimneys bleaching showers of fire over these combustible masses, it is perfectly clear that nothing short of the most searching and continuous vigilance can prevent terrible disaster, and the moment this vigilance is intermitted a crime is committed against confiding humanity.

We are not in possession of data which warrant us in charging neglect or carelessness in connection with the disaster to the Fashion, but we confess to a sense of profound astonishment at the occurrence of this and similar disasters upon any other hypothesis than that of a criminal lack of watchfulness on the part of those to whom so much was intrusted and whose hands so much was lost.

We are pained to learn that the first estimates of loss of life attending the burning of the Fashion, appalling as they were, are very much short of the terrible actuality, and that considerable time must elapse before an accurate list of the names of the victims can be placed before the public. In the meantime much harrassing uncertainty and dread will haunt the minds of those who may have reason to fear that friends of their were on the ill-fated steamer.

Says the St. Louis Democrat, of Saturday: The weather was quite mild all day yesterday. The river was very near stationary. The ice does not appear at all formidable—plenty of it, but mere slush. Any steamer could run into it, and the ferryboats have no trouble whatever. At least one boat will be loading for New Orleans, and probably one for Memphis, one for Nashville, and one for Johnsonville. There is a very considerable accumulation of freight for southern points, and perhaps enough to load the Lorena for the Ohio. The Illinois ice is rotting, but will not move for a week to come, even with uninterrupted fine weather. There will be no approach to navigation in the Missouri, probably, until March, Keokuk and Quincy and shut out from us yet, but only, it is thought, by floating ice.
